

WITH COUNTRY ON VERGE OF WAR, WILSON CONSECRATES HIS SECOND INAUGURAL TO A LAST GREAT MESSAGE OF HOPE FOR PEACE.

Vast Crowds View the Great Procession Which Attended the President

APPEARANCE A TRIUMPH

Mighty Throngs Show Their Loyalty To the Government In A Critical Time

Washington, March 5.—Woodrow Wilson, with America on the verge of war, consecrated his second inauguration, today, with the last message of hope for peace.

With his face toward the eastern war seared sky, he renewed the oath of allegiance, praying God for wisdom to do his duty.

While martial accoutrements rattled, he pictured the wrongs the United States has borne, but added that the nation might be drawn by circumstances into more immediate association with the great struggle.

American citizens, of all nations, before him, sang "America," and in the procession following him to the White House, a composite people gave graphic evidence of loyalty.

The president's every appearance was a triumph, and for the first time in history, a wife stood with a president on the inaugural platform.

The vice president's inaugural was no less impressive and was participated in by the president, foreign diplomats and other dignitaries.

To and from the White House the president's carriage was closely guarded, and mounted troops were drawn up on either side of Pennsylvania avenue.

The mighty procession marched with wind-whipped flags, from the capitol to the White House, between bronzed National guardsmen from the border, the first time since Lincoln's inaugural that troops have guarded the line of march.

Almost every foot of space along the way was occupied and the great reviewing stands, windows, balconies and house tops held thousands more.

Hundreds had been waiting since 7 o'clock this morning.

The president and his cavalry escort left the White House at 11 o'clock. The president was in an open carriage drawn by four horses. The cavalry formed a hollow square about him.

After the program at the capitol the inaugural parade started with the president leading and the vice president following.

West Point and Annapolis cadets and the Culver Academy troops were conspicuous in their striking uniforms. The crowds were chilled and gusts of wind swept up the sand and blinded the marchers at times.

It was after 5 o'clock when the parade ended, after the president reviewed it from a stand in front of the White House.

For nearly four hours it filed past, sailors, soldiers, guardsmen, cadets, veterans, governors and their staffs, thousands of civilians in civic and political organizations, Indians, lines of women and hundreds of bands.

The spectacular fight in the closing hours of congress is still the subject of interest, and spectators looked for the group to be denounced by the president.

Only one, Senator La Follette, attracted attention. He entered the senate chamber late, while the vice president was being inaugurated, and walked down the center aisle alone.

CLEARING WEATHER BRINGS RELIEF TO FLOODED STATES

Atlanta, March 5.—Cold, clearing weather brought relief from the threatened serious floods in Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and Virginia and apparently relieved the situation on the upper Tennessee river.

The Tennessee continued to spread over the lowlands at Chattanooga and farther up flooded many homes and narrowed many families.

FRUSTRATED BOMB PLOT USUAL OUTPOST ENGAGEMENTS GERMAN NOTE STILL AGITATES

Police Arrest German Who Was Planning To Destroy Munitions

Hoboken, N. J., March 5.—With the arrest of Fritz Kolb, a German, the authorities today believed that they have frustrated a plot to aid Germany by blowing up munitions plants of this country.

The police said that they found bombs in Kolb's rooms which, according to rumors, were to be sent to President Wilson.

Later they announced themselves convinced that the alleged plot had to do entirely with destroying entente war supplies, and that no attack on the president was contemplated.

Hoboken, N. Y., March 5.—Canadian Car and Foundry officials said that there was a likeness between Kolb and a photograph of a former employee they had been searching for since the explosion at Kingsland.

Theodore Kemper, a ship owner, said that Kolb was working for him at that time.

ACTION ON GERMAN SITUATION IS HELD UP FOR INFORMATION

Washington, March 5.—Further action on the German situation was postponed today, pending a decision by the president's advisers as to whether he has the power to arm merchantmen, in spite of the failure of the armed neutrality bill.

The determination to arm ships if a legal way is found, is generally apparent.

The question of arming ships was referred to the attorney general and Secretary Lansing and will probably be decided in time for consideration at tomorrow's cabinet meeting.

WITH FRAYED LINE FISHERMAN LANDED 105 POUND TARPON

Fort Myers, March 5.—With a line that had been badly frayed by crabs, Oswald C. G. von Lengerke landed a tarpon, Thursday, weighing 105 pounds and measuring six feet two inches.

The scene of the catch was above the railroad bridge. Mr. von Lengerke and P. P. Schutt, proprietor of the Hotel Bradford, had gone there for a day's sport under the guidance of Hiram Stevens.

While he waited patiently for a strike, crabs began to work on Mr. von Lengerke's line and by the time he hooked his tarpon had saved through one strand. As he played his catch another strand parted and Mr. Schutt seeing a chance for sport, made a wager with his friend that he would lose his fish.

Mr. von Lengerke immediately accepted and then began to play his fish with unusual finesse. Leap after leap old silver sides made, his every movement being closely followed by Mr. von Lengerke with a view of saving his line, landing his tarpon and winning the wager.

There were some very tense moments, but, after three-quarters of an hour, he came out winner, much to his own and Mr. Schutt's delight, and the latter declares it was fully worth his loss of the wager.

Mr. von Lengerke used a twenty-one thread line.

ST. JOHNS COUNTY PROPOSED DIVISION

St. Augustine, March 5.—The committee appointed to investigate the county division proposition will report at the meeting to be held March 13th. There are many items connected with the proposed county division, that affect the welfare of St. Augustine, or the residents of St. John's county. It is said that the advocates of the county division movement expect to impose the burden of road debt on the old county by figuring the proportion according to the valuation of property and not by the actual mileage, or cost of the road. This is where St. Augustine's interest in the proposed county division comes in. Territory that secedes must, of course, pay for paved roads, for which the county was bonded, according to the cost per mile and for the number of miles within their boundaries.

DEMOCRATS TO CAUCUS NEW CLOTURE RULE

President's Demand For Change
To Make Filibustering
Impossible

WITH PUBLIC OPINION

Back of Wilson Senate May Be Compelled To Take Action

Washington, March 5.—With the president's demand for a change of the senate rules to make impossible in the future such a filibuster as defeated the armed neutrality bill, fresh in mind, the senate democrats will caucus tomorrow on a program for a special session.

The session, primarily called to pass upon appointments, began formally today, and will get down to business tomorrow.

Senator Owens is preparing to bring the cloture subject before the caucus and thirty-three senators, mostly democrats, have agreed to support him.

If the caucus decides to make the proposal the chief issue of the session the senate may spend the summer in Washington.

The biggest asset of those who wish the rule changed is the president's statement denouncing the present rules and the public opinion it is expected to arouse.

KING PARTY STILL IN THE EVERGLADES

Nothing Heard Yet To Indicate
Whether They Are In A
Place of Safety

NINTH DAY OVER-DUE

Bare Possibility That They Have Joined Bob Watson's
Hunting Party

The possibility that Bob Watson and Argyle Henry, of Miami, who are known to have been on a hunting expedition in the Everglades west of Miami for the past several weeks, have encountered John W. King, his son, John W. King, Jr., and W. R. Catlow, Jr., and accompanied them through one of the trails leading to the extreme southern end of the state, was discussed last night by Captain J. F. Jaudon, at whose behest the King party left Miami on February 10th on a surveying trip.

Mr. Henry is one of the best guides in Florida and is particularly well acquainted with the Everglades, and Mr. Watson is also thoroughly familiar with the circuitous sloughs, or trails, leading through the Everglades, by means of which Captain Jaudon believes the King party may be making their way to the coast.

Mr. King and the boys with him are now nine days overdue, but Captain Jaudon believes they have merely been unable to make their way through the Everglades with the rapidity they thought possible when they left Miami for the northwestern part of Monroe county.

It is pointed out by persons familiar with the Everglades that traveling through the swamps and muck is extremely tedious because of the low water in the bay.

Under ordinary conditions travel through the sloughs is had by means of canoes or a flat bottom type of craft known as the glade boat, but it is quite possible, guides and trappers assert, that Mr. King and the two boys with him are forced to wade through mud and drag their boats after them, thus accounting for the long stay in the Everglades.

However, a diligent search will be made by a party now in the Everglades making their way to the camp of Cypress Tiger, distant some thirty-five to forty miles west of Miami, where the services of Seminole Indians will be sought to scour the sloughs and runways for the missing surveyors. This searching party is accompanied by Jack Tigertail, a Seminole Indian chief.

Captain Jaudon expressed the belief last night that Messrs. Watson and Henry, while traveling through one of the sloughs toward the Shark river region, encountered Mr. King's party, and the latter, thinking it best to go with the more experienced men, turned toward the southwestern part of the state with the intention of making their way up the coast after going out by way of Shark river, or some other stream flowing out of the Everglades.

If this is true, Captain Jaudon asserted, the time taken by the surveyors to return to Miami has by no means been longer than would be required, and it may be that several days more will elapse before they are heard from.

No word had been received late last night by relatives or friends of any of the party concerning their whereabouts, and extreme anxiety was felt by the Catlow and King families.

As soon as the low clouds in the west are dissipated, Phil Rader, chief instructor of the Curtiss aviation school here, will attempt a flight over the Everglades to the west of Miami in the hope of locating the King party. He was prevented from making a flight yesterday by the thick, low clouds, as he knew it would be impossible to see through them if he flew at a safe altitude.

DON'T NEGLECT KIDNEYS

Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Prescription, Overcomes Kidney Trouble.

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

The kidneys should receive some assistance when needed. We take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich, heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, annoying bladder troubles, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, maybe weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. There is nothing else like it. It is Dr. Kilmer's prescription used in private practice and it is sure to benefit you. Get a bottle from your druggist.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention The Miami Herald.

COLDER WEATHER IS THE PREDICTION

Much colder weather was predicted yesterday for Miami last night and today, and the indications were favorable to temperatures of forty five degrees at Miami, and freezing temperatures in the northern part of the state.

A cold wave moved eastward Sunday and Monday and affected practically all sections east of the Rocky mountains, except the Dakotas, the immediate middle Atlantic coast and extreme southern Florida.

Freezing temperatures extended Monday morning as far south as northwest Florida, and below zero temperatures prevailed in the northern lake region.

The cold wave was preceded by general rains in the south Atlantic and east gulf states and by rains turning into snow, or sleet in the north and middle Atlantic states, lower lake region, Ohio valley and Tennessee.

The cold wave was expected to reach the Atlantic coast and over-spread the Florida peninsula last night, causing temperatures below freezing in northern Florida, heavy frosts in central Florida and probably light frosts down to or slightly below Palm Beach, according to R. W. Gray, meteorologist at the local weather bureau office.

During the twenty-four hours ending at seven o'clock yesterday morning, .39 of an inch of rain fell in Miami.

"Calories?" he replied. "I don't believe—five hundred—I doubt if we have that many in stock. However, inquire at the dress goods counter."

"Calories? What's them?" The clerk for once looked puzzled.

"Well, I don't know. But I know this wouldn't be the department. Calories, you know, are something to eat. I went to a food lecture the other day and they said to eat at least five hundred calories a day. I suppose it's a vegetable."

"I suppose so," said the clerk.

WORLD'S GREATEST BRIDGE IS READY TO BE OPENED

An unusual achievement in railroad construction and a marvelous triumph in bridge building will be turned over to the world next week when the first regular train is run over the line of the New York Connecting Railway Company. The road will form a connecting link between the Pennsylvania and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad systems and will furnish through service between New England and the south.

The connecting railroad is ten miles long, of which three and one-half miles represent the length of the Hell Gate bridge. The road passes over Randall's Island upon a viaduct, 1,965 feet long to the great bridge which spans the Hell Gate channel between Randall's and Ward's Islands.

The bridge is pronounced by engineers to be the greatest triumph in bridge building in the world. It has a span of more than a thousand feet, the longest in the world. It is wide enough to carry four railroad tracks, which is another record-breaking feature, as no long bridge in the world now carries four tracks. For the construction of the bridge and its approaches 90,000 tons of steel and 460,000 cubic yards of concrete were used. The great arch alone required 20,000 tons of steel.

Trains will approach the bridge from the north over the Bronx viaduct, which is 4,356 feet long. They will cross the Bronx viaduct upon a bridge with two lifting sections, each 175 feet long, through which vessels will pass between the mainland and Randall's Island.

The towers of the bridge are built of concrete, faced with granite, and are 240 feet high, with foundations carried down more than 110 feet below mean low water. The height of the arch between the towers at its center is 200 feet and the tracks are suspended from this arch at a height of 135 feet above mean high water.

Service and strength were considered in planning the bridge. If four of the largest locomotives in existence were coupled to heavily loaded trains reaching from end to end of the great bridge, it could support them with ease, in the opinion of the bridge commissioner, Gustav Lindenthal, who designed it.

Inauguration of service over the connecting railroad will mark the completion of the dream of the late A. J. Cassatt, who as president of the Pennsylvania conceived and started the vast improvements in and around New York. A total of at least $150,000,000 has been spent on these works by the railroad. The Hell Gate bridge alone has cost about $27,000,000, half being paid by the Pennsylvania and half by the New Haven road.

Philadelphia and points south expect to benefit through the new line, especially in the summer months. It has been suggested that special trains for points in the White Mountains, Maine and other resorts now started from New York over the New Haven lines, may hereafter be run from Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington.

Shippers throughout New England also will benefit. At present the New Haven's freight terminal is at Port Morris, well up on the Hudson river. Freight interchanges between the New Haven and roads on the other side of New York now have to be floated about fourteen miles between the New Haven terminus and the Greenville yards on the New Jersey shore. All this is to be changed, and freight will go through more quickly and at less expense. It is said by railroad officials that the saving in time alone will be enormous.

ty years ago published the first boy's paper in Canada at Upper Canada College. After leaving school he learned his trade as a printer and engaged in several newspaper and other publication enterprises. He founded the first sporting paper in Canada in 1865, and published the first Canadian Railway guide in the same year. Forty years ago he founded the Evening Telegram, which paid its way from the date of its first publication.

Mr. Robertson has been identified with many interests in his native city. Thirty years ago he founded the Lakeside Home for Little Children, a summer sanatorium for the convalescent children of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, of which he was practically founder, and to both of these institutions, and the erection of nurses residences for 100 nurses, he contributed $300,000. Some years ago he presented the people of Toronto with the largest collection of Canadian historical pictures in the world. There are some 4,000 engravings, mezzo tints, prints, aquatints, and water colors of places and persons and historical scenes in Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, at a cost of $200,000. He represented East Toronto in the dominion parliament from 1896 to 1900. His newspaper is one of the most influential in Canada and has a circulation of nearly 100,000 a day.

In recognition of his philanthropic work, and his life-long endeavor to benefit in his newspaper the people of not only his native city, but those of Canada at large, he was recently offered by Sir Robert Borden, premier of Canada, a seat in the senate of Canada, and also the honor of knighthood by his majesty the king, both of which honors he gratefully declined.

Mr. Robertson is a past grand master of the grand lodge of Masons of Canada in the province of Ontario, and has occupied all positions in the craft from the inner guard of a private lodge to grand master in the grand east. During his term as grand master he visited 350 lodges in the jurisdiction of Canada, covering about 20,000 miles in so doing.

Miami Hears a Sad Story By Blind Soldier of France Appealing for Relief Fund

The ball room of the Hotel Royal Palm was the scene of one of the most impressive appeals for aid in war relief work that the city of Miami has ever seen.

Sergeant Major Robert Middlemiss of the King's Own Scottish Borderers blinded in the Gallipoli campaign, addressed a huge and deeply sympathetic audience for the purpose of gaining funds for the American, British, French, Belgian Permanent Blind Relief War Fund.

A splendidly erect soldierly figure, Sergeant Major Middlemiss, introduced by Superintendent R. E. Hall, stood on a chair to face the big audience and in sturdy, ringing words asked their aid for a charity which would prevent charity, the war fund which makes it possible for blinded soldiers to become self-respecting and self-supporting members of society.

After his description of the work being done for the blinded men, a series of remarkable moving pictures were shown. These pictures of actual scenes at the front and in the trenches, followed the course of men blinded in battle, through their hospital treatment, through their return to their families, blind, it is true, but pitiful objects of charity but independent and self-supporting and happy.

A generous offering was dropped into the gilt baskets passed by the ushers.

The evening was closed with the singing by Mme. Alys Larreyne, American Prima Donna soprano of the Grand opera of Paris, whose superb soprano was encored again and again. Mme. Larreyne sang the Faust Jewel Song, Massenet's Ouvre Tes Yeux Bleus and Pessier's Bonjour Suzon. As an encore she sang "If No One Ever Marries Me," and closed her remarkable presentation with the Star Spangled Banner in which the audience joined.

The Ohio society will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the Woman's club building. All Ohio people, resident or visiting, are invited to attend.

The Ladies' Aid society of Trinity Methodist church will hold a meeting on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of Mrs. A. G. McGregor.

GRAND WORTHY MATRON VISITED BISCAYNE CHAPTER.

Biscayne Bay chapter No. 75, Order of the Eastern Star, was the happy host last night to Mrs. E. E. Haskell, grand worthy matron of the order in Florida, who made her annual visitation to the chapter.

The occasion was one that brought out the full strength of the large chapter and many visitors from local chapters and from other states. The large hall was filled to overflowing with members and visitors.

Mrs. Haskell made an interesting address during the course of the evening complimenting the officers and members on the splendid work as shown by the very efficient way in which the degrees were conferred and on the general way in which the business of the chapter was transacted.

After the ceremonies of the evening a delightful collation was served. Especial decorations had been provided for the event, and the whole evening's entertainment was carried out with that efficiency for which Biscayne chapter has become famous.

Mrs. Haskell will go to Key West to make a visitation to the chapter in that city.

Plans for the big bazaar of Sir Douglas Haig chapter, I. O. D. B. E., have been so carefully made that everything points to a big success.

Next Thursday, at the home of Mrs. Clifford Netherby, the bazaar will be held. The receipts from the sale will go toward the wounded relief fund for the allied soldiers.

BASKET PICNIC TWO-STATES SOCIETY

The annual basket picnic of the New York and New Jersey society was held at Hardie's casino, Miami Beach, March 1st. The picnicers began to gather at 10 o'clock a. m. and when lunch was served 250 sat down to the tables.

Fifty of the club members took advantage of the fish dinner that was served in the dining room of the casino. Mr. Stanley Brown, of Long Island, was called upon to act as toastmaster and this duty he performed in a manner that was very fitting for the occasion, introducing Mr. Smithers, of Buffalo, N. Y., who spoke of the empire state, ex-Senator Sherman Pemberton, New Jersey, "Our Native state, New Jersey," Mr. Edward Radell, Round Brook, N. J., "Our Society and What It Meant to Us As Tourists," Mr. Gaskill, Mount Holly, N. J., "Miami and Her Beaches," Mr. Schisler, Atlantic City, N. J., "The Early History of Miami and Her Beaches" and introduced Mr. J. Collins of Moorestown, N. J., and Miami Beach, who gave an interesting talk on the construction of the Collins bridge, which he conceived and built, and of the early development of the beach peninsula, of which he was the prime pioneer, and Mr. Mills, of Atlantic City, N. J., who gave a very interesting talk on the present and future comparative advantages of Miami's beaches and Atlantic City beaches.

As the afternoon drew to its close, everyone present expressed themselves as having the best time ever and felt that the 1917 picnic excelled the 1916.

Games were played and many enjoyed the pleasure of a dip in the ocean and pool.

It is understood that another 500 card party is to be held at the Woman's club rooms by this enthusiastic club this evening, play to start at 8:00 p. m. sharp. All New York and New Jersey people are cordially invited to be present. A good time is assured for all.

Mrs. S. M. Clawson will be hostess to the Ladies' Aid society of the First Christian church, which will meet in the Sunday school room of the church on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

REGULAR MEETING WOMAN'S CLUB TODAY

The Woman's club regular meeting will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the club auditorium.

Mrs. Rose B. Seeley of New York, will speak upon the subject of "Prohibition—The State and National Issue—A Call to Patriotism."

Rev. J. L. White, D. D., will give an address upon "Recent Temperance Legislation."

Miss Myrtle Travis, of Chicago, will sing a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards, of Chicago.

The courtesy of the Woman's club is extended to all tourist and resident members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union to be present at this meeting.

WOMAN'S CLUB HOUSE AT WEST PALM BEACH

Palm Beach Post: Anticipation of Sun Dance frivolities is bringing joy to the hearts of many these days, but realization of something very near and very dear to their hearts is making the club women happy.

The club building has been started finally, after years of working and waiting, and saving and planning. Cement for the foundation is practically all poured and the superstructure will be raised this week. Carloads of material are arriving daily, and barring possible unforeseen delays, the new club home will be ready for occupancy July 4.

The building is of concrete construction and of an architectural design appropriate to its semi-tropical setting. It will embrace a large library, rest rooms, committee rooms and kitchen on the lower floor and an auditorium with a seating capacity of five hundred on the second floor. Located on the lake front, two or three hundred feet to the north of the free reading room, it overlooks Lake Worth and the Royal Poinciana. The main entrance is on the south and wide porches will surround the building.

Money for the payment of the club home has not all been raised by any means, but contributions from home folk and tourists continue to be received and the women have not lost heart.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Minford, of New York City, who are occupying an apartment in the Ostend for the season, have as their guests this week Mr. and Mrs. James Kilsheimer, of New York City. Mr. and Mrs. Minford will entertain for their guests at the Royal Palm grove tea dance on Tuesday.

COUNTY AGENTS' REPORTS

Brevard County: Farmers have found it necessary to readjust their operations since the freeze. Many of the potato fields are showing up in fair shape but most of them show a lack of moisture. Pruning and caring for citrus trees injured by the freeze is being attended to properly. The damage is showing up now.

Hillsboro County: A calf-judging contest was held at the fair among boys who had received instruction in judging dairy cattle, from the county agent.

Marion County: An attempt is being made to standardize the corn in this county. The county agent is furnishing the seed corn to the boys in the club work and he is getting it from one grower.

Madison County: The county agent visited the 1400-acre farm of Anderson & Brown where several farmers had gathered to see the work done by a feed mill which grinds the whole ears of corn. Anderson & Brown have sold large quantities of this ground feed to greater advantage than if it had been marketed in the ear.

Holmes County: The county agent reported much interest in the fact that the feed mill raised the price paid to farmers for velvet beans to two dollars a ton.

Nassau County: Interest in livestock and farming is much greater all over the county than ever before. The stockmen are greatly interested in tick eradication, and the control of hog cholera.

Alachua County: The county agent found one farmer turning his soil in good shape with a sulky plow, putting into the soil a good crop of velvet bean vines that had been thoroughly cut up with the disk. He reports another community dipping vat, and two privately owned.

Clay County: Here are the precautions taken after an outbreak of cholera in this county. All of the dead hogs were burned, the premises were disinfected with air-slacked lime and kresol dip, and the live hogs were all dipped for lice. A sack was filled with air-slacked lime, saturated with kresol dip and placed at the gate. Every man was required to wipe his shoes thoroughly on the sack when leaving the hog lot.

Pasco County: The result of the county exhibit at the South Florida Fair was gratifying; twenty-one first and second premiums were received. The county took first on tobacco in all entries, first on citrus trees, first on pine apples, first on greatest variety of citrus fruit, second on best box of oranges, third on best corn, second on dashpens, and first on egg plants; making a total of $225 in prizes.

Duval County: The county agent reports an unusually large number of callers interested in Florida livestock farming.

Palm Beach County: A recent meeting of farmers at Tropical City was very interesting. Nearly every farmer in the community attended and an attempt was made to analyze the farmer's business on a twenty-acre basis, as that is the average holding in this community. With the acreage, the farmer must make a good return from each record to show a profit over living expenses. The agent urged the growing of as much food as possible for home use, the raising of some livestock, the planting of a few acres to a safe cash crop, and then through summer cropping and good soil management to attempt to make a good profit from a reasonable acreage of truck crops.

HIS WIFE'S HANDICAP

At the farmers' conference in the country store the talk drifted to the work done by the various wives of the committee present.

"Wal," contributed Uncle Ez, "my wife is one in a million. She gets up in the mornin', milks seventeen cows, gets breakfast for ten hard-working men before 6 o'clock, by heck."

"She must be a very robust woman," volunteered the commercial traveler who happened to be present.

"No, stranger, she ain't what you'd call so strong; she's more pale and delicate-like. Gosh!" with a burst of enthusiasm, "if that woman was only strong, I don't know the work she couldn't do!"—Everybody's Magazine.

MINISTERS CO-OPERATE TO ORGANIZE CHAPTER OF THE RED CROSS

Dade County Ministerial association, fully alive to the importance of the recently begun movement for the organization of a local chapter of the Red Cross, put aside all other business yesterday at the regular monthly meeting, and discussed with Mrs. Arthur Curtis James the steps to be taken toward perfecting the formation of a chapter here.

Mrs. James, who is a member of the national association, presented telegrams from the officials of the national body sanctioning the formation of the Miami chapter, and the ministers heartily endorsed the plan.

A committee consisting of Dr. J. L. White, pastor of the Baptist church; Dr. W. W. Faris, pastor of the Presbyterian church; Dr. J. R. Cason, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church; Rev. R. N. Merrill, pastor of the White Temple Methodist church, and Rev. H. H. Jones, pastor of the Congregational church, was appointed to confer with Mrs. James and Mrs. A. Leigh Monroe, who has been designated as leader in the local movement.

This committee will meet with Mrs. James and Mrs. Monroe at the home of Commodore and Mrs. James tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, to select members of an executive committee, who in turn will set about organizing the chapter.

RABIES IN FLORIDA

(Bulletin State Board of Health.)

Which is worth more, my life or your dog, or to reverse the proposition—your life or my dog?

The same old question comes up periodically, with the recurring prevalence of hydrophobia in different parts of the state, and it is particularly emphatic just now because of the existence of positive cases, or threatened cases, in Jacksonville and Duval county, as well as in several other sections of Florida. Just why this coincidence of the infection in so many parts of the state at the same time, is not a matter for discussion here. It exists and the question is that of first aid—what to do in the circumstances.

No other human affliction is weighted with more horrible possibilities. Death from no other disease is accompanied with greater suffering, more agonizing torture. Its horrors can not be depicted and to witness such a death is torture in itself.

Not every dog that bites a human being is infected with rabies, but every dog inflicting such a bite should be captured and confined beyond the possibility of further harm, until the disease, if present, has time to develop to positive symptoms—usually three to five days. Then the brain should be examined bacteriologically for evidences of the disease. If the positive presence of the disease is established, the human victim should receive the Pasteur treatment immediately.

If, however, the dog escapes and examination is impossible, the human patient should incur no risk but should begin treatment by the Pasteur method.

Also, if the human victim is bitten about the face or neck, the preventive treatment should be begun at once, as the wound in this location is likely to develop the disease sooner than if the bite were inflicted upon some other portion of the body.

Of the Pasteur treatment it is to be said that it is practically infallible, if begun before the disease has progressed too far. Its failures are less than one per cent. This preventive vaccine for which naturally there is not a regular or large demand, is not carried in stock by druggists. It is a preparation that deteriorates with long keeping, and therefore, it is furnished by only a few of the biological manufacturers in this country. It is prepared and furnished on demand by a northern firm to the State Board of Health, through which it may be obtained for distribution to all parts of Florida. The vaccine will be sent by direct special delivery mail to any practicing physician whom the patient may designate.

The first thing to do in case of a dog bite is to communicate through your own physician with the state health officer at Jacksonville. Do not permit the animal which inflicted the bite to escape or be killed. Shut him up and have your physician or other expert watch the development of the disease, if it is present, and notify the State Board of Health.

But there's another way, far better than this, and that is to prevent the disease. You choose your representatives to make laws for the protection of your life and property. There is no law in the state that covers this particular matter, although there should be a substantial state tax for the privilege of keeping a dog. Nearly every municipality in the state has enacted protective laws requiring a dog tax and for the muzzling of dogs, which are allowed to run at large. You elect public officers to enforce the laws and they don't enforce them, or allow their inaction through favoritism or because, in their wisdom, certain enactments are foolish or unnecessary. They exercise an alternative which is beyond their legal right to use.

It seems to require an outbreak of rabies, like the present one, a death or two or three to arouse public sentiment to the point of demanding law enforcement, of insisting that executive officers shall perform the duty for which they were elected.

Most dogs are not worth the scraps they tip over the garbage cans in the back yard at night to feed upon. If the dog owner has an animal of real value, he should think enough of it to protect it from the results of violated law, and he should protect the public from the possibilities of its being infected. Any dog, whether a valued hunter or of rare breed, if allowed to run at large, is likely to be exposed to this infection. It comes like a thief in the night, without warning. Its actual presence in any community is the first premonition. For the owner of the animal, the only protection, is obedience to the local laws, or those of the state, if such exist. Against all dogs not so protected it is the plain duty of officials strictly to enforce these protective laws through all seasons and months.

It is because these laws have failed of enforcement that Florida has fastened upon it the present plague and menace. How long are you going to stand for such conditions in your home state?

A MAN OF WEALTH

Dr. J. Lewengood, at the Friars Club last night, was heard telling of a friend of his who went to a bank to borrow $5,000.

"The cashier took him to the president in order that the head of the bank might quiz him about his financial responsibility," said Dr. Lewengood. "Fifteen minutes later the president went to the cashier and said: 'Let him have the money. He's all right!'"

"How do you know he is?" asked the cashier.

"He's got an onion breath," replied the president. "—New York Evening World."

A HIGHER LAW

It is unthinkable, of course, that any old statute forbidding a merchant vessel attacking a public vessel of a nation with which this country is at peace would have binding effect on the president of the United States, under the present state of affairs.

A dispatch says that a law passed by congress, nobody knows when, does so forbid the vessels of this country from attacking public vessels, which now would mean submarines as well as battleships, and that that statute would prevent the president from directing the arming of such merchant vessels as must sail the zone so presumptuously forbidden to neutral commerce by the German government.

A higher law than that or any other congressional action gives the president the right and imposes on him the duty to protect American vessels in any manner he deems advisable.

The constitution of the United States declares that the president shall be the commander in chief of the army and navy. The very nature of the office of commander in chief, in times of emergency, is to do the thing that must be done, whether the civil authority has provided for the emergency or not, and it is not conceivable that the president is without authority to protect American citizens from attack. It is unthinkable that at this day and date and under conditions of modern naval warfare, a merchant vessel has not full right to arm itself in defense and to use that defense if wantonly attacked.

It is quite true that, technically, we are not at war with Germany. But it is equally true that a state of war exists, or we would still have representatives in each other's country. The first overt act now will bring on not only a state of war but actual conflict, and it is absurd to say that a vessel pursuing a lawful journey, having been given notice that it is to be attacked, cannot take proper precautions in the way of defense, and if threatened or if attacked cannot use that defense, because some old statute, framed for entirely different conditions, prohibits it from so doing.

Common knowledge and our common sense prove to us that a condition potential of war exists. Whether war shall come lies not with us, but with the power that has created impossible conditions. That power proclaims to the world that it will sink all vessels, without warning, found within a certain zone which it has arrogantly indicated, without the slightest authority in international law. The first time its threat is carried out, real war exists, brought on by itself.

Now the vessel attacked by a submarine has no time to fire upon the vessel which has sent its torpedo on its death dealing mission. It is then too late. A vessel, sailing the forbidden zone, knowing that it is to be attacked if sighted, and seeing a submarine preparing to attack, has the same right of self preservation that a man threatened, and seeing his opponent about to draw, has the legal right to take the life of his assailant if he believes that is the only way to save his own life, the statute against killing of a human being to the contrary notwithstanding.

So with this recently resurrected law against attacking a public vessel of another country. If a vessel has been threatened, if the instrument of destruction appears, if the result of making no defense is inevitable sinking, with the consequent loss of life, that vessel has the inalienable right to defend itself, the statute to the contrary notwithstanding.

Going still farther back. Knowing that it has the right, moral and legal, in spite of the warning given by a really hostile nation, to traverse any part of the open ocean to which it may be called by business, the vessel has the right to prepare for any emergency that may present itself, and use that preparation if occasion requires, and the president of the United States, being commander in chief of the army and navy, has the right, and it is his duty, to see that no vessel that exercises its natural right, is molested if its attack on a threatening public vessel of a threatening and substantially hostile nation, is successful, and it comes away from the encounter safe and whole.

There is one thing about writing editorial comments, these days. About the time one is all framed up and in type, conditions have so changed that the comment is almost out of date.

The Federal Trade Commission has fixed the price of print paper at two dollar and fifty cents a hundred pounds. Now we will see whether the manufacturers will make it at that.

And it is very probable, too, that Von Ehardt never will make that proposition to Carranza to invade the United States. Having been discovered in the act, he will probably hold up that Zimmerman communication.

In spite of all the legislation on the subject, east Tennessee and east Alabama are anything but dry, since the floods.

One phase of preparedness should not be overlooked, in view of the weather forecasts. If you've taken 'em off, better put 'em on again.

Cheer up, Woodrow. You have had a hard four years, but the worst is yet to come.

TIME TO CHANGE THE RULE

Even the president of the United States cannot prevent a law from being framed and passed, if a constitutional number of congressmen still believe the measure ought to be law, after he has vetoed it. A minority in the house of representatives cannot prevail against the opinion of the majority, nor prevent the passage of a bill which the majority believes should be passed.

But in the senate of the United States, under a condition that has grown with the growth of that body, at a certain time in any session, one senator may, under the pernicious system of so-called senatorial courtesy, obtain the floor and defeat a measure no matter how meritorious that measure may be and no matter if the whole country is urgently pressing for its passage.

It was this accident, of a persistence of an archaic procedure that permitted twelve senators, or any one of them, from holding up and defeating, for a time, the bill asked for by the president of the United States to clothe him with authority to take necessary steps to protect the lives of American citizens and to prevent the destruction of American property.

For many years there has been an insistent demand that the senate remodel its rules to prevent just such a disaster as that which occurred on Saturday and Sunday, where a most needed measure, one not only involving the property and the lives of American citizens, but the honor of the American nation, was defeated because, under the rule, it was talked to death in the senate. It is true that it was talked to death by its friends, that is, its friends prevented by a filibuster a filibuster intended to prevent action on the bill, but such a course could have been prevented had not an ancient and discredited usage permitted a few senators to dictate to the senate, to congress, to the president and to the people of the United States.

The lesson has, or ought to have been learned and even the conservative senate should now take steps to remedy an evil which has had its full fruit in the actions, or want of action, of that body within the week.

The changing of the rule is now necessary because, as the president has intimated, there is very little use in calling an extra session of congress with the senate in a position still to block, indefinitely, any needed legislation to protect the country. An extra session has, however, been made imperative by the failure of the senate to pass the armed neutrality bill, a failure which also involved several exceedingly important measures which must be passed at an early day or disaster awaits the country.

Those senators who took advantage of a discredited rule to perpetuate a discreditable act should go down to perpetual infamy, but the senate should now take such measures as will, for all time, prevent any such disaster again visiting this country as that with which these twelve men have afflicted us.

WE OUGHT TO DO SOME PLANNING

It may be a sort of municipal treason to say so, but Miami is growing too fast, her people are too busy, there is too much to do, there does not seem to be time to do the things that will eventually make for a great and modern city. We are building because we are forced to build for the ever increasing demand, but we are not planning comprehensively for the future.

The result of this growing up in a sort of haphazard way is that the time will come when we will be compelled to spend incalculable sums to rectify our present mistakes. This city is neglecting the matter of securing parks and park ways. Some day, in the not distant future, we will be compelled to pay large prices for land that we will be compelled to purchase for public purposes. It is making no provision for grouping its public buildings nor is it providing land for the purpose when the people shall, before long, demand that there be a civic center modeled on modern conceptions of what a city ought to have. We are paying no attention to the matter of regulating buildings, with the result that business is being concentrated into a small area, the business section is not spreading out, to the inconvenience of the people and to the detriment of property which is now neither business nor residence holdings. We are not providing that buildings shall follow certain architectural lines and our skyline and facade are presenting a conglomerate collection of all sorts and conditions of architecture which we will be compelled to remedy some day. We are not taking care that buildings shall be sanitary and that they shall conform to the requirements of a tropical climate, but follow the methods of unplanned cities in northern zones. We are making very little effort to conserve bay front or ocean front spaces for the public and soon the public will be shut out by the demands of private owners. We are making no plans for the beautification of the city, but are letting it grow up as it will and in whatever way it will, without concerted plan and without much thought for the future.

Miami should now appoint a commission to study modern city building, not necessarily a city beautiful plan, but certainly a city systematic plan, so that within a reasonable time some of the energies of the city could be directed toward the production here of a modern city which will be a delight to the eye and satisfying to the artistic sense of those who are to live here now and hereafter.

The Herald hopes to arouse some public opinion on the question of a systematic city, believing that the time has come when the various phases of the important subject should be taken up seriously by council, by civic bodies and by the people, recognizing also that the city is called upon to spend large sums for supplying the immediate and insistent demands, and that what is done now should be more in the way of planning than in putting plans into effect, and for that purpose hopes to publish from time to time such information as it may be able to obtain on the question of city planning, and to that end it invites the co-operation of all intelligent citizens.

New York World. The armed-neutrality bill passed the house by a vote of 403 ayes to 13 nays. The figures are eloquent testimony to the state of American sentiment under extreme provocation on the part of Germany.

New York Herald. The United States stands on the brink of war—a war not of its own making. That which has been inevitable since the failure to protest against the invasion of Belgium, that which was made doubly certain by failure to break with Germany after its Lusitania crime, is here. There must be, there can be, no divided Americanism in this hour. The supreme duty of the American government and of the American people is to prepare now and to prepare "up to the hilt."

Kansas City Star. At last the nation has no excuse for failing to understand the gravity of the international crisis. The extraordinary disclosures given out from Washington last night show the United States is dealing with a resourceful and unscrupulous aggressor. While this country was talking of peace leagues and discussing whether under certain circumstances a gun might be mounted on a merchantman, Germany was planning through its embassy in Washington the actual partition of the United States between two conquering powers! What part of the Pacific coast Japan was to get was not disclosed. But as a reward for the use of Mexico as a base of Japanese operations, the Mexican government was promised New Mexico, Texas and Arizona. We have this astounding proposal for the definite conquest of a nation with whom Germany was at peace from the actual letter signed by the German foreign minister, Zimmermann. Whether this plot was not an act of war may be left for the moment out of the account. But in view of these revelations it is inconceivable that congress should hesitate further to back the president to the limit. This is no time to falter. It is no time for party differences. It is no time for divided counsels of any sort. The one thing to do is to put every possible weapon in the president's hands. He carries the flag!

STATE PRESS

Tampa Times. Forgetting factionalism, the house of representatives, by an overwhelming majority, passed the bill empowering the president to arm merchant ships and providing for a bond issue of $100,000,000. The power to use "other instrumentalities," which the president desires, is not given in this bill, but it is included in the senate measure, which probably will be adopted by both houses. Revelations regarding Germany's effort to buy Japan and Mexico against the United States, accompanied by demands from the "folks back home," caused democrats, republicans and others to line up with the president, and even the raucous voice of William Jennings Bryan, who hurried to Washington early in the week, has not been heard in behalf of peace. That the people have been behind the president has long been evident, and it is good to know that he has proven himself worthy of their faith. And when the people are known to be behind a man—well, it is easy to locate the politicians.

"BRAVES AND SEMINOLES" MAY BEGIN ANNUAL GAMES TATUM PARK ON THURSDAY

The annual games between Boston Braves and Seminoles, as the first and second string players of the Boston National League Baseball club are facetiously called by their manager and business manager, George T. Stallings and Walter E. Hapgood, will begin at Tatum Park Thursday afternoon, "If the players' muscles are not too sore," the Miracle Man said last night.

Forty Braves and others of the Boston party arrived yesterday and Sunday night, and are quartered at the Urmy hotel. Four others, Walter Marranville, known the world over as the "Rabbit" because of his wonderful agility at short stop; Pitcher Frank Allen, Catcher Earl Blackburn, and long Tom Hughes, one of the Braves' leading pitchers, will drift in, one or two today, and the others later in the week.

Marranville is detained at Springfield, Mass., by the serious illness of his wife, Allen was last heard from at Newburn, Ala., but is now on his way to Miami, Tom Hughes is expected of others here last winter were "conspicuous by their absence" as the country correspondent usually expresses the fact that some players were released after the Braves left Miami last spring.

The embryonic Braves, or Seminoles, as they will be called until they show their fitness, include in their tribe Cal Crum, a pitcher from Terre Haute, Ind., who at one time played on a team with Nehf, now a true and tried twirler for the Braves.

John Rawlins, who is trying out at short stop this year, was bought from the Toledo Club of the American Association, W. H. Massey, of Navesota, Tex., also an understudy to Walter Marranville, was drafted from the New Orleans Southern League club, while George Twombly, of Medford, Mass., a Greater Boston school boy player, comes from the Baltimore club.

Other new players include Robert Gill, a pitcher, from Boston College, who comes with the record of having to arrive today from Salida, Colo., and Blackburn left Massillon, Ohio, a day or so ago.

But to come back to that contest, or series of contests, between first line and second string players, the dope handed out last night is that Eddie Fitzpatrick, who made himself solid with the Miami fans last year, will lead the Seminoles to battle as Captain again this year, and, of course, Johnny Evers will be the big chief of the Braves.

The players were out on the field at Tatum Park early yesterday morning trying out their muscles, getting the kinks out and otherwise shaping up for the season's work as representatives of two of the biggest cities in the United States—Boston and Miami, the one big because of population, and the other because of the noise she makes.

Several new players were noticed on the field yesterday, and a number

MOORE HAVEN WILL HAVE A BIG CANNERY

Philadelphia and New Jersey Experts Who Are Interested In Project

The current issue of the Moore Haven Times says:

"Robert Kessler, of the widely known firm of Winters & Kessler, with offices in the Bourse, Philadelphia, spent two days here this week in connection with the firm's plan of erecting a large cannery in Moore Haven for canning tomatoes and manufacturing various tomato products. The firm also plans canning other vegetable products of this section."

"Mr. Kessler was accompanied by Mr. Freda, an expert grower of tomatoes, and a director of canneries in New Jersey. Mr. Freda is a leader of the Italian tomato growers of New Jersey, and interested with Mr. Kessler in the plan for the erection of a cannery here."

"The Philadelphia firm was interested in the project of establishing a cannery in Florida by members of the Tampa Board of Trade. He went to Tampa, met the leaders of the trade bodies of that city, visited all the neighboring vegetable centers and investigated thoroughly the possibility of establishing a cannery in that city."

"The two experts, (Kessler and Freda), were brought from Arcadia by automobile. When they reached the edge of the Moore Haven district and he muck rose out of the sand, Freda began to rave, in his typical Italian manner about the soil. When he saw the sand line in the lateral canals disappear under a bed of six feet of muck he could hardly be held in the car."

"Two days spent in Moore Haven found both men wild to erect a cannery here. Farmers promised them their support and agreed to plant any products they wanted to pack."

"Both men were anxious to erect a large building here so that they could pack a crop within the next ninety days. Mr. Freda is bringing to this country a new industry, the making of tomato paste. Since the war an embargo has been placed on the shipping from Italy of this paste. In Moore Haven, he said, he had found the greatest place in this country to inaugurate this industry."

"If arrangements can be made with the can makers, with machinery builders and with lumber dealers and contractors, Moore Haven will soon have an enormous building, more than 300 feet long and 200 feet wide. If the proposition to make the paste cannot be brought to a focus this spring, Mr. Kessler stated he would erect a large cannery here next fall."

TODAY AT THE PHOTOSHO

Lenore Ulrich, the beautiful Pallas star, will be seen at the Photosho today in the Pallas-Paramount picture, "The Girl of the Year." In the early scenes of the picture, Miss Ulrich wears a very unique costume of beautiful white fawn skin, trimmed with beads, porcupine quills and deer teeth. The dress was loaned Miss Ulrich by Edward H. Williams, a noted collector of Indian relics, and it was originally intended to be the bridal dress of the daughter of a chief, having been made by a woman of the tribe. Two days before the wedding ceremony was to be performed, the bride-to-be was killed in an accident and the dress was never worn. Supporting Miss Ulrich are such prominent artists as Colin Chase, Howard Davies, Jack Stark, William Winter Jefferson and others.

ory back to the "home folks" or to care-free, joyous boyhood days.

It is the simple, homey little phases of life this artist sees about him, that with the lenses of his "smiley heart" and original mind he photographs and sends back to say "good morning" with one's breakfast coffee.

Long ago Mr. Donahay learned the wise rule to always do his best on each task. The task, being finished, must be forgotten and all his mind and attention focused upon making the next one better, if possible.

While the readers find the cartoons "jolly amusement," to the artist they are serious work, and when he seeks amusement it is to turn to something different.

One of his diversions is the propagating of bees. In the summer their chorus sings nearby, while he may work or play in the Grouch House, which is the original title of his den or studio. Here also he may model quaint tile or even "do" the head of a friend in clay.

In the Donahay home there is an original brick fireplace with a large inset tile, showing an Indian smoking, the top mantel being supported by heads of an Indian chief and a squaw, the work of the cartoonist.

He has modeled heads of some of his well known cartoon characters. There is "Sis" and her comrade, "Doc Tweezer," "Old Man Toner," and various others.

But best of all is his quaint old "Uncle Biff," sitting comfortably cross-legged in his blacksmith shop, his pipe in hand. Everyone has known old Uncle Biff, of some village community, always to be found seated in summer before the country store door, in winter with his feet beside the store stove.

It is Mr. Donahay's wise vision that sees beyond the superficialities of life, that sees into that "home heart" so often neglected but not forgotten, that has made J. H. Donahay the successful and beloved cartoonist.

SENTENCES IN THE CRIMINAL RECORD COURT

Gamblers, Liquor Sellers and Others Submitted Cases To the Presiding Judge

Deputy Sheriffs Williams, McDade and Rolfe made a general raid on illegal liquor sellers, gamblers and vagrants on Sunday and made arrests of negroes and others in the southern part of the county, and many of these entered pleas of guilty and were fined by Criminal Court Judge J. L. Billingsley yesterday. Those who pleaded guilty to gambling and were fined $1 and costs were Sandy Jenkins, Zoda Davis, Henry Flagg, Jim Thomas, Isaac Wilson, George Hill, George Parker, Dennis Paschal, and C. Stewart.

Selling Liquor.
Unusually heavy sentences were meted out by Judge Billingsley on three who entered pleas of guilty to selling liquor unlawfully yesterday. These were also taken in by the deputy sheriffs in Sunday's raids. Two of the three were men and the third was a woman. The men, Will Robinson and Alfred Hall, colored, were fined $100 and costs, while Westina Trapp, the woman, was fined $50 and costs. John Morrow, Ella Murphy and Rosa Duckett, negroes, were fined $1 and costs after they had entered pleas of guilty to charges of vagrancy.

Carried Weapon.
M. Roney, white, was tried for carrying concealed weapons and the jury failed to agree. He entered a plea of nolo contendere yesterday and was fined $1 and costs. Judge Billingsley remitted the fine in this case.

False Pretenses.
Bertha Singletary, a negroess, who was charged with obtaining goods to the amount of $300 under false pretenses from Charles M. Mundy, was sentenced conditionally by Judge Billingsley yesterday. The conditions were that the woman serve two years, which sentence was suspended with the understanding that she pay $15 per month in the summer months and $25 per month during the winter until the amount of $300 is paid.

Must Leave County.
Judge Billingsley yesterday changed the sentence that was imposed upon Billie Dean, a young white woman, last week. The original sentence was that she pay $50 and costs and leave the county. This was changed to a sentence of six months in the county jail, which sentence was suspended upon the condition that she leave the county and remain away permanently.

Sentence of Cooper.
A conditional sentence had been imposed upon J. A. Cooper of Ojus, who was arrested and tried some time ago for illegal liquor selling at that place and who was fined $300 and costs or sentenced to serve three months in jail.

After the fine Cooper gave bail for the purpose of getting a new trial, but was arrested again last week. The conditions made by Judge Billingsley are that he quit selling near-beer, continue good behavior and pay his fine and costs or make satisfactory settlement with the sheriff.

Henry Ruff, of Birmingham, Ala., president of the Jefferson Land & Building company, returned to Miami yesterday for a stay of several days, during which he will probably "invest in a little more Miami dirt."

Mr. Ruff's company recently leased the vacant lots at the northeast corner of Eleventh street and Avenue B for a term of ninety-nine years, with the intention of building a large hotel or apartment house, paying three thousand dollars annual ground rent.

When seen last night Mr. Ruff was undecided as to when the Jefferson Land & Building company will begin work on the building at Eleventh street and Avenue B. The tract of land is 113 by 100 feet, and is considered one of the most valuable hotel sites in Miami.

TOURIST CARTOONIST FROM PLAIN DEALER VISITOR IN MIAMI

Miami has been sung, done in poetry, elocuted, orated, written, discussed, cussed and otherwise handled by admiring visitors, and now the city is being pictured by one of the clever newspaper cartoonists who has been a guest of the city for a week.

The visiting picture-maker is J. H. Donahay, who has been on the staff of the Cleveland (O.) Plain Dealer for eighteen years. He is accompanied by his wife. For a week they have enjoyed Miami to the limit, and will be here a week longer, then start up the coast. Meantime Mr. Donahay hopes to make a trip up one of the canals into the Everglades to see some of the country about which cartoonists have sometimes permitted their imaginations to run riot.

Incidentally Mr. Donahay sends a sketch every day to the Plain Dealer, depicting some of the scenes in and about Miami. These are in hu-manous vein, of course. He is on a tour of recreation and says he is having a first-rate time.

Talked About at Home.
A recent issue of Cleveland Topics, in an illustrated page devoted to cartoonist Donahay and his work, had the following to say:

How many Clevelanders realize that one of the most successful and best loved cartoonists of this country is a Cleveland, J. H. Donahay, cartoonist for the Plain Dealer, and instructor of cartooning at the Cleveland School of Art, where he also studied during his school days?

With a mind that is a bubbling spring of originality and humor, with a heart that loves nature and fellow-men, and an ambition always to do his best, it is to be wondered that he has climbed steadily to the top? A writer in February "Cartoons" calls him the "Jim Riley of the drawing board; the poet laureate of cartooning." He further writes, "For without sermonizing, Donahay preaches; without philosophizing, he teaches."

Clevelanders know this to be true. Many "cityites" were born in the country, and a glimpse at some of Donahay's cartoons takes their mem-

AIR HUNTING NEW IDEA OF MR. CURTISS

Will Try It With Flying Boat In This Section Probably Today

What Glenn H. Curtiss believes will become a popular method of hunting big game will be put into execution by him as soon as weather conditions are favorable, and he is confident that he will be able to bag a shark, whiptail or other marine monster.

Mr. Curtiss' idea is absolutely original, it is believed, for if anyone has ever thought of it before he has not made the fact known and certainly has not undertaken it carry it out.

The flying boat which operates from the vicinity of the Royal Palm hotel will be the mode of locomotion and the observation point from which Mr. Curtiss, assisted by Captain Charles H. Thompson, will watch for game while soaring over the waters adjacent to Miami.

Captain Thompson has had made several specially designed harpoon handles, which will be used in killing any game that the flying boat approaches.

A platform or cage for the observer has been built and will be placed on the forward end of the flying boat's hull. From this vantage point, Captain Thompson will keep watch while Mr. Curtiss drives the boat.

As soon as a whiptail or other creature is sighted from an elevation of several hundred feet, the observer will make this fact known to the pilot, and then the flying boat will swoop down on the prey.

With harpoon poised Captain Thompson will await until the boat approaches the game from behind and, then, when the propitious moment comes, will drive the weapon deep into the creature's body.

Mr. Curtiss will probably make an effort today to kill some deep sea monster from his flying boat.

BIG DOCKET HANDLED IN CITY COURT

Said To Have Been the Largest
In the History of Miami

Two records were broken by Municipal Judge W. Frank Blanton in the city police court yesterday. The docket was the largest in the history of the city, there being sixty-seven cases slated for trial, while the municipal judge made a record in dispensing with the court proceedings in sixty-seven minutes, or one minute for each case.

The unusually large number of forfeitures was responsible for the quick session, while those cases which came up for a hearing were quickly disposed of by his honor.

Ten dollars or twenty days were the sentences imposed on Fred Sweeting, colored, charged with fighting; Clifford Mills, colored, charged with gambling; W. Hannah, colored, charged with being drunk and fighting.

Those fined $5 or ten days were: Isaac Ranson, colored, for fighting; T. Cameron, charged with being a suspicious character; W. H. ## WHITE MAN IS HELD FOR THE SHOOTING

Officers Claim M. A. Pye Was
One of Pair Who Shot
Negro Dorsett

M. A. Pye, a white man residing in the lower part of the county, is locked up in the county jail on a technical charge of assault with intent to murder. Pye is accused of having fired the bullet that struck Charles Dorsett, a negro, at Goulds, on Saturday last, because the negro would not dance.

Dorsett is in a precarious condition in the Miami city hospital, and Pye will be held to await the result of his injuries.

Dorsett was slightly improved yesterday but his condition is still very serious, according to the hospital attendants.

Pye denies that he did the shooting but the sheriff's deputies, McDade, Williams and Rolfe, who have been working on the case, claim that he will be identified as one of the two men who endeavored to force the negro to dance, and, because he did not do so, shot him.

THINKS LEE COUNTY WILL BUILD BEST POSSIBLE HIGHWAY

J. B. McCrary, head of the engineering corporation bearing his name, which has contracts for several million dollars worth of highway work in Florida, including the Tamiami Trail and Ingraham Highway in south Florida, returned yesterday from the west coast where he has made a thorough inspection of the portion of Lee county through which the Trail will pass.

Mr. McCrary is well pleased with the progress being made by his forces, but expresses regret that Lee county is unable just now to build the same kind of highway that Dade is building to connect with the Lee county end of the trans-state road.

He believes, however, that the Lee county tax payers see the advantage of building the best highway possible and will find the means of financing the project.

PLEASANT MEMORIES OF DADE CO. FAIR FOR 1917 SEASON

All that remained of the annual county fair late yesterday afternoon was a vacant building with the floor covered with dust and trash, empty cattle sheds except two which contained three calves and two yearling heifers, empty poultry coops and part of a bale of para grass hay. All else was memory.

Early in the afternoon the exhibitors began carting their produce, poultry, cattle and hogs away, and by noon very little remained, except a few articles in the woman's department, which later were carried to the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Blackman, 804 avenue L to protect them from the dust.

The twenty first annual fair passes into history as the most successful from an educational view point ever had in Dade county, according to the belief of the officials, exhibitors and thousands of persons who have seen it and other fairs.

Numerous remarks were made yesterday and during the several days the fair was in progress to the effect that the vegetable display has shown conclusively that weather does not become too severe in some parts of Dade county for tender vegetation to survive.

Forty seven varieties of green vegetables were counted at the fair, including the very tenderest kinds.

ON THE FISHING BANKS.

William Beaser, Jr., of Cleveland, O., made his first trip to the fishing banks on board the charter boat Angler, Captain Crossett, yesterday and landed a large amberjack and twenty other fish. With Mr. Beaser was C. L. Bingham of Chicago, who is spending the season at the Hotel Haicyon.

Mr. Beaser was delighted with the day's sport, which was his first trial for deep sea fish, and he is hearty in praise of Miami and the great fishing attraction here. The catch included, besides the amberjack, eight large grouper, some barracuda, cero mackerel and other fish. The day was a bad one for cruising and few, if any other, boats were out.

ARRESTED BY DEPUTIES.

Charged with keeping a gambling house, E. W. Johnson was arrested by Sheriff Moran's deputies Saturday night and will be given a preliminary hearing. It is alleged that Johnson maintained a place for gambling on a boat in the Miami river. Emanuel Moses, R. F. Johnson and J. L. Johnson have been arrested by the county authorities on charges of selling liquor unlawfully.

Joe Davis has also been arrested by the sheriff's men, on a charge of vagrancy.

ADDRESS ON SUNDAY

By Victoria Haley, Organizer of Colored Women's Clubs
—Uplift Talk

A large and interested audience met in Mt. Zion Baptist church Sunday afternoon to listen to a gifted and educated woman of their race in the person of Victoria Clay Haley, the national organizer of the National Association of Colored Women's Clubs. She had previously organized five local clubs into a city federation, each of which has applied for membership in the national association.

It was readily evident that the speaker was not only well qualified by previous and extended experience to discharge her official duties, but that she believed that one of the best and most effective ways in which to bring about the much-needed uplift of her people and race would be, as graphically described by her, by "seeing ourselves as others see us"; by "hewing to the line, wherever the chips may fall," and "by turning on the lights."

She spoke fearlessly, but as if aflamed with the zeal to uplift the women of her race, as taught by the motto of the national association: "Lift as we climb." "No race can rise higher than its women," she quoted, but she immediately added, by way of a plea to the men in the audience: "No woman can rise higher than what you men will allow her."

The Three B's.
"Our race needs the three B's," continued the speaker, "a Bible, a

Laugh When People Step On Your Feet

"Try this yourself then pass it along to others. It works!"

Ouch ! ? ! ? ! This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, aching corn stops soreness at once, and soon the corn dries up and lifts right out without pain.

He says freezone is an ether compound which dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding tissue or skin. A quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callous from one's feet. Millions of American women will welcome this announcement since the inauguration of the high heels.

bathtub and a broom." Every colored woman who is a mother having the responsibility of daughters, owed it to the negro race, to herself and to her children to educate their hearts, and heads and hands.

"Get right with God and live the life," she pleaded in passionate and eloquent voice. The educated negro, man or woman, she said, who failed to take a personal and lively interest in the uplift of the race by engaging in community work, was but handicapping the progress of the race. Colored school teachers should strive to get into sympathetic and personal touch with the parents and guardians of their pupils. Petty jealousies and envies should never be allowed to conflict with the ideals to be attained.

The Cause of "Jim Crowism."
Then, "turning on the lights" as it were, she put this question to her audience whom she had been swaying with her fearless earnestness: "Do you want to know why 'Jim Crowism' became a necessity? If so, get into a railroad coach, especially on a Saturday night, and you will there see the glaring and painful conditions that compelled this system. Yes, until our men learn to respect the women of our race as the whites do theirs we shall ever be at a disadvantage." The White Race Is the Negro's Best Friend.

"It is a sad mistake to believe that the white race is our enemy. They have proved to be our best friends. Their desire is to see us, as a race, level up to the high standard achieved by their forefathers, and whereof they are justly proud. Cleanliness, whether personal, domestic or public, should be the ideal of the negro race, as it has been that of the Caucasian. If we have but one room, why should it not be made a model of scrupulous cleanliness?" was one of the speaker's

"THE REDEMPTION" NEXT MONDAY NIGHT AT WHITE TEMPLE

Of all the world's great oratorios, the one to be sung next Monday evening by the White Temple choir, with Elmer G. Hoelzle, tenor, Goumou's "The Redemption," is most noted for expressiveness of music. The incidents of tremendous import surrounding the passion, death and resurrection of the Christ are clearly pictured in the music which Goumou has placed to the words which tell the story in language.

The work has few brilliant passages as the thought and themes with which it deals do not call for brilliancy. But throughout it is strongly dramatic. The scene between Christ and the thieves on the cross is particularly so.

Those who hear the work Monday night will doubtless marvel at the genius of the great composer in weaving such wonderful tenderness into the passages that comprise the scene depicting Mary at the foot of the cross, and Jesus' charge to John to care for his mother.

But in strong contrast to the pathos of the incidents surrounding the crucifixion comes the joyous story of the resurrection told in Part II of the work. There is no less depth of feeling in this, but the note is definitely changed. The trio of Mary, mother of Jesus; Mary Magdalene, and Salome as they come to the disciples with the glad news that "The Lord, He is Risen Again," fairly bursts with joy and wonderment at the miracle that has been performed. This trio is sung by Mrs. Eugene B. Romfh, Miss Adelaide Clark and Mrs. Dungan.

The Ascension gives opportunity for the dignified and majestic style which Goumou made the most of in the farewell address of Christ to the apostles and the inspiring chorus, "Unfold ye Portals Everlasting."

For 25 cents you can save your hair. In less than ten minutes you can double its beauty. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and charming as a young girl's after applying some Danderine. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

burning and pointed questions. Then she threw her audience into laughter by saying: "I never have to be told where 'white town' ceases, and the colored section begins; because the evidences of having crossed the line of demarcation are too painfully obvious to me."

"But why should this be? She insisted. Tell me why is it that as a race we cannot keep our surroundings equally clean as in the other section?"

The speaker's criticisms evoked repeated assenting expressions, rather than the contrary, not only because of the good natured manner in which they were made, but because of the very evident zeal that she had for the uplift of her people and race.

LADIES! SECRET TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

Bring Back Color, Gloss and Youthfulness With Grandma's Recipe of Sage and Sulphur

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use preparation improved by the addition of other ingredients, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

who is now dancing at the Royal Palm hotel; this is Mme. Roberts' moving picture debut.

The gowns in this feature are beautiful to behold. Each and every scene becomes a veritable glimpse of a modiste's shop with the feminine star as the delightful model. There are elaborate dinner gowns, dainty dance frocks, charming afternoon gowns and sweet morning and garden dresses.

One afternoon dress is fashioned from a flesh-colored chiffon with a delicate rose scroll through the material. The skirt is made simply with two or three ruffles of a rose crepe de chine, while the waist is designed with a white yoke trimmed by little black velvet bows and black velvet edging.

THAT FLOATING MINE WAS FROM KEY WEST

The floating mine found a few days ago off Long Key has been identified. The Key West Journal says:

"The finding of the floating mine off Long Key that has been regarded as a mystery has been explained. The mine as was at first reported, but is Key West harbor. It was not a contact mine as was at first reported, but is one of those which protect this city and is touched off by aid of electric wires. A tug was sent yesterday to bring it back to the naval station.

CREDIT TO FLORIDA FOR ITS LIVESTOCK

The "Southeast Livestock" gives Florida credit for the following:

"The Clay County Livestock and Farm Company has been incorporated at Green Grove Springs, with a capital stock of $1,500,000, by Homer Gray, J. Beckenstein, R. B. Zin, H. G. Young, and E. P. Kay. The company is said to intend stocking a large tract with purebred Herefords.

"D. G. Elliott, Mandarin, Fla., will put into effect a plan which he has formulated for co-operative hog raising. Mr. Elliott has been experimenting with Duroc-Jerseys on the range, with highly satisfactory results. He is said to contemplate operating with about 100 head of breeding stock.

"A company with a capital stock of $10,000 is being organized at Perry, Fla., to raise cattle on a farm in Taylor county. Those interested are S. A. Hinely, E. J. Courtney and Colon Blue. It is intended to fence 1,200 acres, build dipping vats and provide equipment. Purebred bulls will be purchased.

"N. C. Zergensen, White City, Fla., has engaged in raising purebred hogs on his ranch near that city.

"The Silver Cloud Stock Farm company has been incorporated at Quincy, Fla., with a capital stock of $7,500 to raise livestock, including horses, and operate a dairy. The incorporators are E. H. Guy, formerly of Indiana; L. M. Lindsay and C. L. Sowell.

"More than 100 cars of hogs, 50 of cattle and 100,000 bushels of corn will have been shipped to market by the end of February from Jackson county, Fla."

"I'm Happy to Own a Plant That Need Never Close Down"

This was the comment of a multi-millionaire from the North regarding his Florida farm, when a financial stringency rendered it necessary for manufacturing enterprises in which he was interested to suspend operations.

The fact that in Florida agriculture and live stock raising go right along, all the year round and year after year, adds greatly to the profit-earning capacity of the money invested in them.

A longer growing season, with two or more feed and forage crops each year; grazing almost every month and absence of bitter cold, are factors which make stock raising in Florida exceedingly profitable when managed by experts.

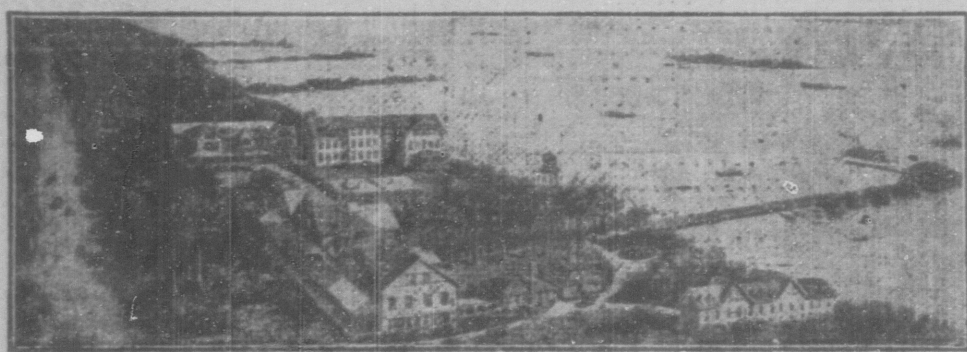

Florida farmers sell their live stock at prices fixed by producing costs in other less favored sections. Their profits accordingly are greater than can be made elsewhere. The nation's need of more meat can be met only by an increased production in this section.

Money invested now in live stock raising here, under proper safeguards, will earn big dividends. The securities we handle provide a stipulated fixed income and allow participation in earnings beyond the amount required to pay the guaranteed dividend. All are based on agricultural development now under way.

While you are in Florida this winter, why not look into her greatest money-making opportunity—the live stock business? Our booklet will give you a lot of valuable information, free upon request. We will be glad to send you copy and to show you the properties on which are based the securities we sell. Let us hear from you NOW.

FINANCIAL NEWS

Furnished The Herald Daily By Clement D. Cates & Co., Jacksonville and Miami

New York, March 5.—Bartlett, Frazier & Co.: Can see nothing but a tightening of cash situation everywhere and as prices advance the market broadens. Believe prices of oats are bound to work higher.

World's shipments: Wheat this week 7,556,000, last year 13,625,000; corn 2,116,000 vs 1,982,000; oats 4,352,000 vs 3,303,000.

Hutton Stock Letter: Conditions are so serious that it is useless to try and say what the market is going to do. By the filibuster all the legislation to help railroads has been killed. The market has stood a good many tests, perhaps it will stand present conditions with equal equanimity.

British ship Drina has been sunk near Buenos Ayres, presumably attacked by submarine. Dow Jones.

Eastern houses buying wheat on dip; selling scattered; Minneapolis 1 off; Wpeg 1 down.

Eastern houses have taken surplus wheat out of the market; good general trade and tone strong. Looks higher. Babcock.

Stocks: Coppers all look higher. E. F. Hutton.
Clear Wheat 2,102,000; corn 354,000; oats 265,000; flour 9,000; wheat and flour, 2,143,000.

St. Louis receipts wheat 131,000 vs 186,000; corn 100,000 vs 124,000; oats 114,000; 82,000.

Kansas City receipts wheat 185,000; 230,000; corn 84,000; 334,000; oats 44,000; 26,000.

Grain: Good commission house demand for July at 159 1/4. TJB.

Grain: Commission house demand for July wheat at 159 1/4 still holding market but wheat seems to be on tap above this price. TJB.

Grain: Washington wires: The consensus of opinion is that there will be no embargo placed on exports of foodstuffs. It is also said the Mexican situation is critical. Russell's News.

Long wheat coming out.

Hayden Stone circular on Chino shows $12,800,000 earned in 1916 of $14.75 per share.

Stock Opinions: Ware & Leland: Buy standard stocks on all recessions and reduce lines on scale up.

Logan & Bryan: We consider the prevailing level of quoted securities as being very attractive to discriminating buyers.

Car Lots: Wheat 14; 4; 14; 188. Corn 68; 1; 68; 110. Oats 102; 27; 102; 98.

Hogs opened 5 to 10c higher; receipts 40,000 vs 50,000; good heavy 13.80@14.00.

Cotton Opinions: Miniprey & Co.: It looks very much as if the market is cornering itself, we do not see how higher prices can be avoided.

Logan & Bryan: Think sharp recessions should be made use of to make purchases.

Twenty industrials 93.63, up .80; twenty rails 97.63, up .63.

Cotton: Liverpool cables due 10 to 19 1/2 higher. Opened 13 to 16 higher. At 12:30 p. m. 16 to 21 higher; spots 26 up; middling 11.74d. Sales 7,000, including 6,000 American.

Grain Opinions: Simons, Day & Co.: We predict very much higher prices for all provisions in near future and while it is well to take profits at present prices on product that has been carried for a long time we would not consider it safe to sell short even for a small turn, the market is too strong and the breaks are too short-lived.

YACHT CLUB AUXILIARY

St. Petersburg, March 5.—A woman's auxiliary to the St. Petersburg yacht club has been organized and has undertaken the task of beautifying the grounds around the club building. The new home of the Yacht club will probably be dedicated during the festival of the states, which will be held March 25, 26, 27 and 28.

The auxiliary is composed of about 40 members and each has agreed to pay $5 towards the beautification of the grounds. The auxiliary is entirely separate and distinct from the club itself. A definite plan has been prepared for the planting of the grounds about the building and when carried out the grounds will be very beautiful.

The officers of the auxiliary chosen this morning were: Mrs. Lew E. Brown, president; Mrs. A. F. Thomas, first vice president; Mrs. C. M. Roser, second vice president; Mrs. John Burnside, secretary; Mrs. T. A. Chancellor, treasurer; Mrs. Howard Frazee, chairman of the membership committee; Mrs. Ed T. Lewis, chairman of the reception committee.

It Is Indeed a New South

only a few hours distant which is rapidly rising in every direction. Stay-at-home people have no idea of what is going on there. Much is to be said, first of all, of the splendid courage and energy of the Southern-born young men, proud to be wedded to their own States and to be in the forefront of the development of their lands, and their products, and of their glorious climate so full of health and restfulness, within reach in a few hours from the snows and zero blasts of the North.

Sunday, February 18, while the crowded churches were singing hymns of morning worship, at St. Petersburg, on the West Coast, the wild mocking birds were singing in the shade trees along Fourth avenue.

Thomas A. Edison, of New York, and Henry Ford, of Detroit, have beautiful homes alongside of each other among the Royal Palm Grove, just outside of Fort Myers, on the West Coast above Tampa. Other wise men from the North have traveled to the East and are building up uncultured homes at St. Petersburg, Clear Water, Belair, and on the East Coast all the way down from Jacksonville to Miami and onward above Key West and Tampa.

It is a wonderful privilege that in a few short hours Winter may be exchanged for Summer and a life outdoors with the myriads of wild ducks, white heron, cranes and pelicans, and on the smooth waters of the wonderful bays, lakes and keys for those who love to fish.

The South and the North of our own country cannot but grow closer together through its excellent health resorts and mutual interests.

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you lose a day's work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tonic—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tonic, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tonic instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tonic acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.
